American Cyclopædia,

boiled down, the essence of all books crystallized. It stands on your shelves ready to answer every concelvable question, and gives in brief paragraphs the results of other men's years of torisome investigation.

In this age no one has time to grope among the thousand and one different works for every fact required, even if the volumes stand on his shelves; while with a Cyclopædia, the matter in question is found at once, digested, condensed, stripped of all that is irrelevant, and verified by a comparison of the best authorities. Moreover, this compliation has been performed by special writers, who are the highest authorities upon the subjects with which they deal; so that this work is the epitome and ultimatum of all knowledge, and precludes

the necessity of having other books. You are probably spend-ing dollar after dollar for books which are only of limited

A TIDAL GUAGE .- The government of the United States having kindly furnished our government with the apparatus for a self-registering tidal guage, the necessary preparations are being made under the direction of Capt. Jacob Brown for placing the same at the east end of the Esplanade. 100 COILS NEW BEDFORD CORDAGE, It is a pity it had not been in position in time to 25 coils New Bedford Whale Line, Cutting Falls, 100 bolts Lawrence Mill Cotton Duck, assorted nos. fm 1 to 10, Cotton, Ravens, Duck; Amoskeag Brilling for boat sails; 150 have recorded the pulsations of the tide on Thursday last.

ON READING the Rev. Mr. Bingham's book, the "Sandwich Islands," we were struck by the folly lowing statement made to Admiral Lord Byron by that gentleman, which shows that the missionaries of 25 IRON STOCK ANCHORS, sizes from 80 up to 2,300 lbs that day did not approve of any interference on the part of their body in the politics of the coun-CHAIN CABLES, 5 S, 3-4, 7-8, 1, 11-4, 13-8, and 15-8 inch. For sale low by try :- " I stated, on behalf of the Mission, . . that the instructions from the American Board of Commissioners to us as Christian Missionaries, forbade our interfering with the civil and political affairs of the nation." (Bingham, page 269.) As "Christian Missionaries," they were forbidden by their Board to become political firebrands and turn their pulpit into a "stump." The native pastors, who have succeeded them, would commita great mistake by seeking to make a "stump" of the pulpit which the Proto-Apostles of Hawaii nei, left to them environed by a halo of sanctity.

> FROM THE CRATER OF KILAUEA .- Madam Pele. though rather quiet of late, has by no means retired from business, and has just given evidence that she has a large stock of earthquakes and liquid rock on band for the entertainment and inspection of visitors. The Hon. H. M. Whitney who returned to town yesterday from a trip to Hawaii, informs us that the old South Lake at Kilauea, which for many years has been the principal vent of that volcano and the point of attraction for visitors, has become extinct and is now a mass of dead lava, piled mountain high. Or Friday the 4th inst., several severe shocks of earthquake were felt at the volcano bouse (and also at Hilo at the same time) and shortly thereafter a brilliant eruption burst out in the S. E. corner of the great pit, and worked its way up into the extinct crater of "Old Kilauea." Subsequently the eruption subsided here but broke out again on Monday the 7th in the bottom of the pit, right on the path from the volcano house to the South Lake. Mr. Whitney and his guide walked over that path early on Monday, where shortly after was a lake of fire! another of those narrow escapes of which there have been so many at Kilauea. The new lake was rapidly enlarging its borders, the fountains of to add somewhat to the comfortable and cheering asliquid fire were playing, Pele's hair flying about, and all the wonderful and awe-inspiring phenomena of an active volcano were in full operation. Now is the time to visit Hawaii.

TIDAL PHENOMENA .- Early on Thursday morning last it was discovered that the tide in the harbor of Honolulu was running out to sea at a great rate, leaving the shore bare several feet lower than the usual low-tide mark. After an interval of about twelve minutes, the water returned, and in much less time than it had occupied in running out, it was apparently high tide at all points. But scarcely had the water reached its former height on the shore and along the wharves, than it began again to recede. And this pulsation continued all the forenoon and during the day, gradually decreasing in volume until it ceased. The usual tide was at ebb in the morning when the unusual phenomena were most marked, and an actual measurement gave four feet and ten inches as the extreme rise and fall, at a point inside the harbor and near the old Custom House. Tidal phenomena of a similar character have been recorded on a number of occasions in these islands in past years. The last one before the present was on the 13th of August, 1868, when the phenomenon was observed all over the islands. At Honofuln the ADVERTISER of the 15th says the tide " rose five feet and four inches above the lowest mark!" which was six inches higher than is reported onthe present occasion. At Hilo, the tide of 1868 carried away a bridge and destroyed a fish-pond, which was however the only damage reported on the islands. The next news from South America Tongue and Grooved Boards, Red Wood, 14; however revealed the fact that the same day of the tidal disturbance here, there occurred a terrible earthquake on that continent, whereby two cities in Peru and Ecaudor were destroyed and to the Pilot or Port Captain, also a list of the 30,000 lives lost, and that simultaneously there crew, and no seaman is to be left on the Island were volcanic and earthquake phenomena at New | without the consent of the Governor in writing, Zealand and Japan. It is possible that in the present instance the outbreak may have occurred in our own domestic laboratory of Hawaii; but at | cate from the Harbour Master is granted certifying where in the Pacific that there has been a convulsion of nature, the vibrations of which have INSANE.-Capt. L. C. Grey, whose arrest on charge of smuggling opium was noted last week, was on Thursday declared insane and removed to the Asylum.

HALL SOLD .- The Good Templar's Hall at Wailuku, was sold at auction on Saturday the 5th inst. under foreclosure of mortgage, and brought $2800. Mr. Henry Cornwell was the purchaser, and it is thought that in his hands the property will return a good interest on the purchase.

The house was filled with a fashionable and appreciative audience, and although our people are not, as a rule, very easy to please in matters theatrical, it is safe to say that in this instance they were decidedly pleased, with both the principal performers and all concerned. The arrangements of the stage also, were novel and tasty, the garden scene being particularly admired. A new and attractive bill is offered for this evening (see advertisement) and we congratulate the theatre-going public upon the inauguration of a season of chaste and elegant dramatic entertainments by the talented performers, Miss Rena and Mr. Maeder.

holiday in commemoration of Kamehameha I. occurs on the 11th of June, and from present appearances will be celebrated with unusual pirit. The grand park which has recently been laid out by an association of our citizens, between Waikiki and Diamond Head, will on that day be formally opened by His Majesty in person, with appropriate ceremonies, and receive its title-KAPIOLANI PARK." An attractive programme of races and other amusements to entertain the public appears elsewhere in to-day's Issue. The military will be out, accompanied by the Band, and a salute will be fired by a park of artillery Picnics and social parties may be expected to abound in the neighborhood of the Park, and we expect to see a large attendance of pleasure seekers. The efficient committee of arrangements we are assured will furnish accommodations for ladies, by the erection of booths, &c. Full particulars will appear bereafter. erection of an additional building, in which foreigners are now received, when afflicted with sickness, while the main building is reserved for the sick Hawaiians. It has been suggested to us that charitable members of the community might be happy to contribute articles of little use to themselves, such as old pictures, albums, and such bagatetles, in order pect of the interior of the new building, recently erected, in which foreigners, as we have remarked, are received. A mere trifle oftentimes serves to divert the attention of a poor sick person, whose eves and thoughts will remain rivetted for hours on some old picture hanging on the wall of the sick chamber, or the chamber of death, as the case may be, We are sure that many of our readers, especially those of the gentle-hearted and gentle sex, would derive real satisfaction at the reflection that some old picture of which they were tired, had become a source of distraction or solace near the bedside of a sick or dying fellow being. Those gentle-hearted people of either sex, have now an occasion of performing a touching work of charity, by contrib-uting some little articles of the sort specified to the new building for foreigners, attached to the Queen's

An Interesting Relic. In examining the papers of His late Highness C. Kanaina, Marshal Parke in his capacity of administrator came across a number of oldtime letters and documents. The most interesting among these relics of the past in Hawaii nei, is the original of the first Regulations for the port of Honolulu, issued by Kalaimoku, or "Billy Pitt." as he was called by foreigners. He was the Kuhina Nui or Premier of Queen Kaabumanu, who at the date of the Regulations, (1825), was the government of the country. Laws in those plaintiff. days were issued and enforced without the tedious and costly process of a Legislative Assembly. The following is the document in question, which has been deposited in the Museum.

THREE GREAT powers-England, Russia and the United States, have a decided reason to desire to become possessed of the Hawalian Islands. All three must now look forward to a period, not far distant, when the canalization of the Isthmus of Darien shall completely alter the condition of the Pacific. The position of the Hawalian Islands will then be of the highest importance. Of the three nations in question, that one of them which would possess these islands would have the advantage over the other two, so as completely to command the North Pacific. Russia, in particular would be likely to look upon the Hawaiian labands with greedy eyes. At present Russia's fleets are confined to the remote harbors of Eastern Vandalism .- Somebody presumably hoodiums Siberia and Kamschatka. She has relinquished -have recently been committing acts of vandalism, her footing on North America, and she has no other ports than those remote ones of Eastern Siberia in the Pacific, north or south. In a war with Great Britain ber Pacific fleets would be almost at the mercy of that power, as she now stands on Pacific waters. But the case would be far different did she possess a strongly fortified barbor of refuge for her Pacific fleets in these islands. Then she could menace with an attack all the Pacific possessions and colonies of Great Britain, in time finished grinding yesterday; also a few days since, of war between the two powers.

England would not have so strong a motive

from a strategic point of view as Russia, to desire the possession of the Hawalian Islands. But it might become a question of policy with her to seize them, in order to prevent Russia from get--he modestly objects to seeing his name in print | ting bold of them. Then the United States would have well founded reasons to desire not to see bunches of those delicious grapes that grow at | these islands fall into the power either of England Labains. The " second city of the Kingdom" was or Russia, and to exclude both, the policy might force itself upon that country to annex them to once noted for the abundance of this fruit praduced there, but King sugar has changed that the Union. At the present time people may smile at the idea of the United States wanting to take the Hawaiian Islands. But let the necessity somehow occur, as occur it might, and we can comprebend with what alacrity the government of the Union would strive to outwit and anticipate England or Russia or both, in any attempt to occupy these islands. Just now there is question of Canislands in 1825, in the same ship with the late Dr. | dia and the Sucz Canal being selzed by Great Rooke, and had resided here ever since,-a period | Britain ; while the Czar seems bent on the occupation of Bulgaria. Why then should it be strange or absurd to suppose that Russia may make a swoop with her Pacific fleet upon these islands, if the war becomes general? Without wishing to become an alarmist, we can see that the position of these islands is critical enough at the present conjuncture. Russia is an aggressive power, that stops at nothing to accomplish her own ends. What cunning diplomacy has not Russia exhibited in the present conjuncture, when in order to attack Turkey with impunity, she has forced round the other European powers to her views, although it is notorious that England and Austria, and perhaps France, desired to avoid an outbreak of war between Russians and Turks. If, then, the subsequent course of events should lead to a general war, in which England and Russia would be brought front to front upon the battle-field, we are fully prepared not to be astonished at all events to see the Russian war-vessels in the Pacific seize upon some part of these islands, as a harbor of refuge for their cruisers. Education.

A neat circular has been sent us from the Haleakala Boys' School. In reading it over, we are impressed with the many advantages enjoyed by the pupils at that school for fitting themselves for lives of usefulness. While they enjoy a fine climate, good and abundant food, careful management in the matter of cleanliness and comfort in their rooms, the system pursued in the school room and out of doors is one that cannot fall to develop them physically and morally, so that all that is good is brought out, and evil tendencies and associations checked and removed. By personal inspection of the school we have satisfied ourselves that it is indeed a "home" for boys, and in every respect those who are fortunate enough to receive its privileges, are better off than almost anywhere else.

The price of board and tuition, forty dollars per annum, seems to us very small, but we store sured that by prudent management, it is sufficient to meet the expenses for food, etc. At the same time we can fully appreciate the importance of having each one pay promptly for the sake of having their children taken care of. We commend the institution to our many readers, as a home for their children where they will grow into useful
